Tutto

Using six dice, players try to score as many points as possible. If only the cards didn't always get in the way! Sometimes a fat bonus will tempt you, but often the hard-won points have to be given back. The dice roll, the tension mounts... Full roll!

STOP

Be the first to get rid of all your cards! Sounds simple – and it is! What's special about Stop, though, is that you have to always pay attention because butting-in is allowed. And when you twist someone else's 6 into a 9, you're another step closer to winning! A simple and quick game for the entire family!

Fliegen klatschen

Be quicker than your fellow players, because as soon as the fly swat appears you have to lunge out! At the same time, you have to pay attention to the colours and numbers of the flies. Not only is it a fun and turbulent action game, Fliegen klatschen also trains your observation and reaction skills!

Coloretto

Just like a chameleon, you can change colour as many times as you want in Coloretto. But if you get too colourful, you won't get ahead in this game – you might even score minus points. The trick is to wait for the right moment and then act before the others do. This edition contains a "golden" special card.

Pearls

In search of shiny pearls, you dive into the clear blue water. You can't hold your breath endlessly, though, but have to resurface from time to time and sell the treasures you have collected. If you have accumulated a particular number of pearls, you can make them into nice necklaces and thus increase their value even more.

Blindes Huhn extrem

Try to get as few blind chickens as possible, since they give you minus points. But even if you have good cards, things might go wrong for you – that's because you are allowed to play only the cards to the far left or far right of your hand. So sort your cards cleverly in the beginning – once the game has started, you may no longer change their order.

Das Vermächtnis des Maharaja

The maharaja has grown old, and his sons hope to take over soon. So each of them buys precious presents in order to gain the ruler's favour. And the more substantial his collection becomes, the better are his chances to ascend the throne.

author: Detlef Wendt
graphics: Alexander Jung, Fiore GmbH rules: GER, EN
box size: 23 x 96 x 20 mm
articlenumber: 08152

3-6 15 8+

Jumbo & Co

Dog, cat, mouse... and elephant. Everybody tries to catch the next one. But in your attempts at taking the greatest prey, you'll often be caught yourself. In this hilarious card chase, players try their luck for all it's worth. Jumbo & Co is great fun for the entire family.

INCLUDED IN THE RECOMMENDATION LIST

3-5 30 8+

Serengeti

Once a year, the traders come to the great market in Timbuktu and offer their precious wares for sale. Over the course of many transactions, the money continually changes hands, making it hard to keep track of who owns what. A thought-provoking bidding game that's not just for art lovers!

Party Bugs

As soon as the lights are out, the party begins. But who wants a cockroach costume party in his own place? It would be best to send the fattest pests to the neighbours. And if two party guests turn up in the same costume, they'll be embarrassed enough to go home anyway. Great card game fun that will even captivate party poopers.

Alles Käse!

The mice are loose! And what do mice want? Right, cheese – and there's plenty. But watch out: The nasty mousetraps smell enticing, too. Only if you have the right nose and are not too greedy will you get hold of the most cheese.

author: Urs Hostettler

Ein solches Ding

The players put cards with seemingly-harmless descriptions into the display area. However, the number of displayed cards constantly grows, and the combination of the descriptions is crucial: when playing a card you have to have an item in mind that matches all descriptions. If your neighbour doubts your action and you have no answer ready you must take penalty cards! A communicative game.

INCLUDED IN THE SELECTION LIST
Spiel des Jahres 1989

The Swiss URS HOSTETTLER is multi-talented. He is not only a game designer but also an author and songwriter. He studied mathematics and lives with his family in Bern.

>> The game Ein solches Ding was created rather by accident. Once when we were playing charades at a mountain hut and someone was presenting a famous personality, one person could not really guess. This person didn't own a TV or read the newspaper and so didn't know much about famous people. However, I wanted everyone to have fun and equal opportunities while playing, so I turned the game around. We wrote on cards characteristics that led to an initially undefined thing. This worked well for everyone and so Ein solches Ding was born.<<

7Seas

You have sailed the Seven Seas and braved all storms, always searching for lost riches and treasures. Then you have finally found it: the treasure island and its chests filled with gold, crystals and rum. But beware: Dark curses lie on the island, and the kraken is on the hunt for easy prey. Collect the most valuable treasures and set sail again, before the other players beat you to them.

Anno Domini – Black

In this card game, events need to be arranged in the correct chronological order. So there aren't any questions to answer; instead you'll have to decide which came first: "the Antonine plague" or "Charles Sobhrai became a serial killer of backpackers". Players take turns adding new and unusual events to the chain, trying to be the first to get rid of all their cards. If a player is caught making a mistake, though, he gets extra cards as a penalty. While each edition can be played on its own, the game's true appeal comes when editions are combined.

TEAM3 green/pink

„Speak nothing, hear nothing, see nothing.“ (Based loosely on a Japanese proverb)

In TEAM3, a team of 3 players works together to build a structure. But how is that supposed to work if the Architect (the one who knows the blueprint) must not speak, the Supervisor (the one who needs to describe what has to be done) only sees the wildly gesticulating Architect, and the Builder (who eventually has to build the structure) can't see anything? The answer is: with teamwork, chaos, and plenty of fun!

TEAM3 is available in 2 versions - a green one and a pink one - with different cards. On top of that, each version also contains its own mini-expansion. For even more variation, you can also combine both versions.

City of Rome

To rebuild the Eternal City, the Roman Emperor has summoned the most talented builders of ancient times. Each of them tries to create the best draft and thus secure the job. But talent alone is not enough in this city. Only those who know how to move around the palace, cleverly exert their influence at the senate, and fork up a coin or two will have a chance to eventually be awarded the contract.

NEW SIZE AND COVER DESIGN!

Limes

The 2-person game Limes got a little makeover. Same content, but now in a handy box size with a fresh cover design.

It's two thousand years ago, and life along the borders of the Roman Empire seems to go on as usual. Beyond the border, however, barbarians lie in wait. Consequently, players not only have to till the fields, catch fish and chop wood, but also need to develop a clever network of watchtowers.

Piratenbillard

An extraordinary game of dexterity! Using special wooden mallets, you move your balls across the large board. You manage this by hitting the bottom of the linen cloth that makes up the board, making the balls fly up into the air. Great fun for the whole family.
